

Pope Names 8 Cardinals in Secret Session

Mgr. Giovanni Bonzano, Apostolic Delegate at Washington, One of Those Created at Consistory

Makes First Allocation

Protests Palestine Allotment and Pleads for Russia and Return of Peace

ROME, Dec. 11 (By The Associated Press).—Pope Pius XI held his first secret consistory for the creation of new cardinals to-day. The Pontiff also delivered an allocution and preconized the appointment of several archbishops and bishops already nominated.

The ceremony occurred in the hall of the consistory in the presence of all the cardinals living in Rome. They were headed by Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli.

The eight cardinals created to-day were Monsignor Achille Locatelli, Nuncio in Lisbon; Monsignor Giovanni Bonzano, Apostolic Delegate in Washington; Monsignor Henriques Rey y Casanova, Archbishop of Toledo; Monsignor Alexis Charost, Archbishop of Rennes; Monsignor Eugenio Testi, Archbishop of Milan; Monsignor Arthur Stanislaus Touchet, Archbishop of Orleans; Monsignor Giuseppe Mori, Secretary of the Congregation Council of Jesuits, and the Rev. Father Franz Ehrle, formerly the Vatican Librarian. After the cardinals had given their formal assent to the nominations the Pontiff delivered his allocution.

Pope Pius protested against the conditions in Palestine, where the large Catholic interests were not being sufficiently safeguarded; pointed to the need for continued help for Russia in view of the distressing conditions there, and urged re-establishment of peace and order throughout the world. In regard to Palestine he recalled the allocation of the late Pope Benedict in the consistory of June 13, 1921, which charged that the Jews were "taking advantage of the sufferings of the inhabitants due to the war" and deplored the privileged position enjoyed by the Jews in Palestine, which is dangerous for Christians.

Pope Pius added that he adopted this as his own protest and that he would carry out his predecessor's intention as expressed on that occasion, so that "in the settlement of the Holy Land the rights of Catholics and all Christians may be safeguarded."

"Also considering how great the rights of the Catholic Church are there," he continued, "we cannot but wish these rights to be safeguarded, not only against the Jews and infidels, but also against non-Catholics, to whatever sect or nation they may belong."

"Indeed," he added, "such conferences will be useless and will develop

Women Jurors Convict Her as Common Scold

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Marie Sarmosky, of 1327 Hamilton Avenue, was found guilty as a common scold to-day in the Mercer County Court. Four women and eight men comprised the jury who convicted her. The Penal Law has substituted a fine, or a jail sentence for the public ducking which used to be the penalty visited upon such offenders.

Mrs. Anna Emberton, whose home adjoins that of Mrs. Sarmosky, testified that the latter had been swearing at her neighbors and throwing water on them for several years.

into a bitter and dangerous delusion for the suffering nations until such time as the governments decide to temper justice with charity, which policy will finally redound to the advantage of the victorious and the vanquished."

Cardinal Bonzano, after the formal visit announcing his elevation, delivered an address and received a great throng of Italian and American friends. He spoke feelingly of his service as Apostolic Delegate to the United States, declaring that Church there was in a flourishing condition and that he would always remember the noble nation and people with whom the Pontiff had privileged him to associate.

Brake Squad at Work To Lessen Auto Toll

The newly established Bureau of Public Safety took one of its first steps to minimize the danger of automobile accidents here by detailing a Brake Squad to examine motor vehicles to determine their fitness for the street. An analysis of the mishaps in which 9,000 pedestrians were killed or injured in New York last year has convinced Baron G. Collier, Special Deputy Police Commissioner, that most of these resulted from faulty brakes or from some other mechanical failure on the part of the car. The new squad is under orders to examine all motor vehicles which they suspect of mechanical defects. In cases in which repairs are found to be needed the owner will face a summons as well as an order to have the trouble remedied at his own expense. Commissioner Collier said yesterday that the bureau expects the squad to serve about 100 summonses a day and has estimated the probable fines as totalling at least $3,000 a month.

The Brake Squad went on duty at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, commanded by Detective Martana Noonan.

11 High School Students Found Drunk on Beach

Orgy Scandalizes Jersey Town as Police Open Search For Liquor Venders

Staid citizens were shocked and amazed and surprised when the police announced yesterday that eleven high school students—seven boys and four girls—were found stretched out on the beach early Sunday morning so intoxicated that further movement was out of the question for hours.

There were tracks in the sand to show that it had been a merry party until the liquor got in its work. The youngsters ranged in age from fifteen to nineteen. School officials, including Lester Meserole, the superintendent, demanded that the police ferret out the place that sold the stuff and make an example of the bootleggers.

Policemen Jack Corbelli and John R. Morris discovered the eleven stretched out comfortably, picked them up and took them to the station house. Several hours later, after they had sobered up, they were allowed to go home, but not before a list of the names was sent to Magistrate John A. Longstreet.

One of the girls, who is fifteen and a member of a socially prominent family, was still able to walk. Another of the party is a star member of the girls' basketball team. All of them refused to tell where the liquor came from.
